THE "BLOODY SHIRT"

A foreigner familiar with the heroic sacrifices voluntarily made by the loyal people of the United States in behalf of human rights the maintenance of personal liberty and the security of equal justice for all could not fail to be astonished to find that even in New England within a decade of the triumph over armed rebellion public journals not only scoff at those who complain of the cold-blooded massacre of fellow American citizens but that the work of wholesale murder in portions of the South has become so much a matter of course that it defenders have adopted a reckless and brutal code with which to express their contempt for all who dare to protest against barbarities which would disgrace a nation of barbarians.

That such treatment of shocking outrages should be tolerated among a people who boast of having given victories to the greatest libral on that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights of life liberty and the pursuit of happiness is indeed hard to reconcile on any theory contrary to the principle of compromise but which only finds a ground for explanation in the fact that the public conscience has been drugged into lethargy by the influence of a large portion of the press. That the Democratic organ which exulted over the massacre of Hamburg as is expected will do the murder of which Eggleston was guilty is not to be wondered at. But that the Boston Herald should take such a contrary tone to the principles of humanity as to apologize for the fiend that the public conscience has been drugged into lethargy by the influence of a large portion of the press. That the Democratic organ which exulted over the massacre of Hamburg as is expected will do the murder of which Eggleston was guilty is not to be wondered at. But that the Boston Herald should take such a contrary tone to the principles of humanity as to apologize for the fiend

AN OHIO REFORMER

From the New York Tribune.

General S. F. Cary the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of Ohio has an unpleasant reputation now as an unscrupulous demagogue and a discovery which the Cincinnati Commercial has just made is not calculated to lessen it any. Gen. Cary is very severe in his denunciations of the coupon clippers and is particularly unhappy in shunning. O I wish I owned some one bond! Well, it seems he does own some $2,500 worth of them. There are facts connected with his ownership which are not creditable either. He received last year a large amount of money on the tax bills before Christmas last year to a thousand or on the site occupied for the new post office. When the Auditor asked him for his return showing that the warrant for that sum of money in the following spring Cary replied that he had invested the money in U. S. bonds which were not taxable. Of course he had a right to do it but he denounces men for doing the same thing calling them bloated bondholders and urges the people to rise up against the men who have their pockets full of money and yet pay no taxes. He is a good sample of a loud mouthed reformer.

We have heard of another anti-so bondholder who used to send a boy to collect coupons.—Ed. Whig.]

THE MAINE ELECTION

[From the Boston Herald.]

THE BANGOR WHIG—(the leading Republican newspaper of Eastern Maine)—comes out of the contest with its colors flying as token of victory. It announces the election of General Connor the gallant standard bearer of the Republicans and a Legislature strongly Republican, although the popular majority is largely reduced. It heads its returns with "A warning to the Republican Party." Good figures to compare with next year. In its comments it says it is to be hoped that the result will prove a salutary surprise to those Republicans who have become so overconfident that they have deemed it unnecessary to put forth any special effort for the state. It further says that the Democrats of the State have acted with perfect system and quiet unanimity in every county, while the Democratic press of the State, which has dragged out the weak body of the party politic to swell the Democratic vote. The talk of the Democratic press of the State, which has dragged out the weak body of the party politic to swell the Democratic vote. The talk of

It further says that the Democrats of the State have acted with perfect system and quiet unanimity in every county, while the Democratic press of the State, which has dragged out the weak body of the party politic to swell the Democratic vote. The talk of

"Hard money is the rock-bed of the Democratic creed in relation to currency. The party never believed in paper redeemed any other principle, and until it shows its readiness to do so in its National delegate Convention it will be premature to assert or assume that it is a paper-money party, or committed to any such fatal heresy as inflation, or, most of all, the nursery, ally or advocate of repudiation."—Boston Post

In spite of this over the New York platform the Post reads its inflation friends in Ohio and Pennsylvania out of the Democratic party, but when the gale change of the "National delegate Convention" the Boston organ will smilingly reverse its crank and assure its readers that the paper mill is the true basis of Democratic finance.

When General Roberts first run for Governor in 1870 he received in Bangor 1678 votes. At the late election he had 1685, or 126 more than in 1870. General Connor did not receive in this city as many votes as Governor Perham in 1872, by 307.—[Commercial

The above is a fair example of what our contemporary prides itself upon as smartness. Its supposition is that not one reader in ten will notice that while General Roberts' vote is compared with of 1870, General Connor's is compared with that of the Presidential year of 1872. Having begun the comparison with 1870 it should have stated that as an offset to Roberts gain of 126 votes over that year, General Connor's gain over the Republican vote for Governor in 1870 is 607, or nearly five times that of his opponent, whose majority this year is 481 less than when he was before a candidate.

THE GUILFORD VOTE. The Commercial charges us with untruthfulness for copying from the Dover Observer an item crediting Guilford with a Republican increase of 66 over last year, while the Democrats only increased their vote by 9. We find that our table of returns, gives the Democrats an increase of 11, and the Republicans an increase of 66. The vote last year is given in the Maine Register 21 Rep to 105 Dem. as printed by us. In our last year's return we find that it was first printed 91 and subsequently changed to 21. Which is correct we do not at present know although 91 would seem nearer the relative vote. It is not an important matter except to the voters of that vicinity who are not likely to mistake the count.

In computing gains and losses in the House of Representatives, it should be borne in mind that last year it was composed of 89 Republicans 55 Democrats and 7 Independents. The returns indicate but a slight decrease of the Republican force.

THE GAME AND FISH LAWS OF MAINE.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier.

For the benefit of your readers, and in reply to numerous correspondents, both in and out of the State I give you a short transcript of our laws for killing of game and game fishes.

GAME.

Partridges or grouse may be killed from 1st of September until 1st of January. Penalty for killing at other times, not less than five nor more than ten dollars for each bird. Unlawful to trap or snare at any time under a penalty of five dollars for each bird.—[Revised Statutes, chap. 239 page 168 March 3 1874.

DEER AND CARIBOU.

Deer and caribou may be killed from 1st of October to 1st of January. Penalty for killing at any other time or for hunting and killing with dogs at any time forty dollars for every deer or caribou so killed and dogs to be shot at sight.—[Revised Statutes, chap 103 page 68 Feb 17, 1873.

MOOSE.

No moose shall be killed in the State of Maine from Feb 16 1875, until 1st of October 1880, under penalty of one hundred dollar for every Moose killed.—[Revised Statutes chap 12 page 11, Feb. 16 1875.

FISH.

Moosehead and Brassua Lakes. No person shall take or kill in any way any kind of trout in Moosehead or Brassua Lakes between the 15th day of October and the 1st day of March under a penalty of five dollars for each fish so taken or killed.—[Revised Statutes chap 346 page 336 Feb 27 1874.

ST CROIX RIVER AND TRIBUTARIES.

The close time in which it is unlawful to catch take or kill any landlocked salmon trout or togue in the St Croix River and its tributaries, is hereby extended from the 15th day of September to the 31st day of March during the five years beginning with the 31st day of September, 1875. The provisions of chap. 40, Revised Statutes, shall apply to the violations of this act, viz. "A more than forty nor less than ten dollars penalty and a further fine of one dollar for each fish so taken."—[Revised Statutes chap 352 page 345, Feb. 28, 1874.

SEINES, SPEARS, AND NETS.

No person shall catch, take or kill any landlocked salmon, trout, or togue, in any waters of the State of Maine, by means of seines, spears, spear, trawl, set net or snare, or in any other way than by hook and line or fly. Penalty not more than fifty nor less than ten dollars, and a further fine of one dollar for each fish so taken.—[Revised Statutes chap 247, page 175, March 3 1875.

RANGELY WATERS.

The yearly close time for taking trout in the tributaries of the Androscoggin river above the outlet of Umbagog Lake and Upper Dam in No 5 Range 1 shall be five months commencing Oct 1st, and ending March 1st during which time no trout shall be taken or killed in any manner under a penalty of not more than fifty nor less than ten dollars and a further fine of one dollar for each fish so taken.—[Revised Statutes chap 247, page 175, March 3 1875.

BLACK BASS.

Whoever shall take any Black Bass during the months of April, May and June, or at any time from their spawning beds, shall forfeit for each offence, not more than twenty nor less than five dollars, and a further penalty of one dollar for each Black Bass so taken.—[Revised Statutes, chap 40, page 375 1870.

E. M. STILWELL,
Commissioner of Fisheries for State of Maine.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

It has been discovered that rattlesnakes will extirpate the gouty bug. The remedy will commend itself to those who have thought of bringing the Democrats into power, in order to correct abuses in the Republican party.—Providence Journal.

The Columbus (Ga.) Times is frank enough to admit that the South has not lost the hope of restoring the ancient regime. And the methods by which this hope is expected to find fruition are beginning to unfold themselves, too.

In the tie at Bradgton a vote cast for B. T. Chase, if counted, would give the election to the Republican candidate, Benjamin T. Chase, and he will decline a new ballot and carry the case to the Legislature, which will undoubtedly give him the seat.

The Bangor Democrat is jubilant over the Democratic fusion plank in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and says that the unanimous endorsement of the financial doctrine on the Ohio platform by the Pennsylvania Democracy "makes it certain that it will be the great and overwhelming issue in the Presidential campaign of next year."—Lewiston Journal.

It is a fact that could be proved by the record, that there have been more defalcations by the few Democratic officers who have happened to get into power in the last twenty years, than by the much more numerous Republican officers; and that the aggregate of such Democratic perversions of the public funds has been larger than the sum of Republican stealings.—Boston Advertiser.

THE GREAT STORM!

PARTICULARS OF THE DESTRUCTION!

THIRTEEN LIVES LOST!

Loss between $500,000 and $600,000!

Further Particulars of the Great Storm—Damage to Railroads and Telegraph Lines—Houston and Galveston Threatened with a Flood.

CORSICANA, TEXAS, Sept. 18. A wind and rain storm from the North set in here at 2 o'clock Thursday night, lasting until dark yesterday. The rain extended from South Dallas to the coast. Some of the cotton was blown out but no great damage was done to the crops in this section. Telegraphic communication with Houston, both by the Central and Great Northern roads, is broken, but Houston Friday evening papers received here this morning report the storm still raging there and at Galveston At 10 o'clock Wednesday, when the last wire broke on the bridge, the velocity of the wind was reported three at 30 miles per hour and was increasing. The Galveston and Santa Fe bridge is washed away, and the Galveston and Houston bridge is broken, but a part of it is still seen extending from the main land The water extends three miles inland, being higher than in 1867.

The latest from the Highland Station at 4 P M., Thursday, reports the wind a hurricane and doing a great deal of damage in Houston and in Harrisburg the water was within two inches of the top of the Navigation Company's wharf Thursday morning, and was rising an inch an hour Grave apprehensions exist in Houston of a serious disaster In Galveston a night train broke through a bridge thirty miles above Corsicana, last night, destroying three loaded cars and stopping traffic. The bridge and track will be repaired and communication will be opened to-morrow (Sunday) evening.

Another Account

ST LOUIS Sept 18 The following despatch in regard to the condition of affairs at Galveston, was forwarded this evening:

Anson Stager, Western Union Telegraph Company Got to Houston about 3 P. M., over the International road. The wires are down in all directions from there At 7.30 P M, got one wire working to Galveston. From all I can learn the two-mile railroad bridge over the bay is badly broken on several places. One break is estimated at 150 feet wide where two schooners had broken through A terrific storm prevailed yesterday and for several days past, fifteen or eighteen men who were at work on the breakwater are reported lost. Also the health officer of this city is missing. No particulars, but the damage is immense in property. We have engines and men out in all directions repairing wires.

R C Clowes, Asst Gen Supt

Great Damage on Galveston Island.

GALVESTON, Sept. 18. A Galveston special to the Globe-Democrat, says that on last night, says the storm which commenced Wednesday continued to rage with great violence until Friday night. The water from the Gulf of Mexico overflowed half of Galveston Island, knocking down some 100 tenements, uncooling several churches, presses and residences The water on the principal streets are in the market stands 4 feet deep

Damages to Shipping

Three large schooners in the harbor were swamped, also one steamboat and two tugs, one being completely demolished. One of Morgan's steamships was driven against her wharf, but only slightly damaged. A large English bark was forced from her moorings and driven ashore One schooner is 40 feet on the land.

Thirteen Lives Lost.

Some 10 men working on the breakwater at the bar were drowned The health officer Dr. C W Petite and his grandson, are drowned His house was carried off. One negro woman was killed by a falling house.

Loss Between $100 000 and $200,000.

The railroad track is torn up in twenty places on the island The bridge is partially destroyed, culverts on both roads are washed out and the damage is variously estimated from $1 000 to $200.000.

A Regular Cyclone.

The storm was a regular cyclone, but the wind was very heavy and the water was higher than in '57 and '71 At 7 o'clock last evening the wind got around to the northwest and the water began to leave the streets. To-day is pleasant. A committee has been organized for the relief of the sufferers who are principally residents on the gulf side and bay shore All telegraph lines have been down until to-night. The storm extended to Hempstead on the Texas Central and Waco on the Great Western roads including Long on the entire road including the city of Houston No mails have arrived for three days.

The Spinners Getting Ready to Work.

FALL RIVER, Sept. 18. At an informal meeting of the spinners held last evening, there was a general feeling that they would go to work when the mills open, unconditionally. A lengthy meeting of manufacturers held this forenoon to consider the time of the mills, voted to adjourn till evening without definite action.

NEW YORK STATE.

Reception of General Hooker.

AUBURN, Sept. 18. Gen Joseph Hooker arrived yesterday and was received by a large concourse of citizens, the Forty-ninth Regiment, the Grand Army of the Republic and Cowan's Battery. After a short parade, General Hooker was escorted to the Osborn House, where a banquet was spread. In the evening he held a public reception, which was attended by a vast crowd. Later the General attended the Veterans' ball. This morning he left for New York.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Trenching will begin on Farm street very soon.

There were three arrests for drunkenness last night.

The Bangor Theological Seminary opens to-morrow.

The burnt district in Hampden is being rapidly rebuilt.

There was a dance at Williams' Hall on State street Saturday night.

Saturday a large number of workmen on the Water Works were paid off

Rev. G F. Marden, late of Farmington preached at the Third church yesterday.

Some evening this week Mr. Leavitt will sell at auction a valuable lot of lots of paintings.

The party of Bangor gentlemen who went fishing last week returned Saturday afternoon.

Wm. Delaney was before the Police Court Saturday for drunkenness and fined $5 and costs.

Mrs. Henry Hill narrowly escaped serious injury by a falling tree on Main street Saturday afternoon.

Kenduskeag avenue will be closed to teams for a few days, as workmen commence blasting to-day.

Hon. W. W. Wyman, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court, was at the Exchange Saturday evening.

There have been quite a number of attempts to break into houses lately, but fortunately all have been unsuccessful.

Rice & Leighton advertise a new lot of dried beef. This will be found to be very convenient by parties who are going on excursions.

The premiums awarded by the Penobscot Central Agricultural Society, at their late Fair at East Corinth, will be found on the first page to-day.

One of the bulls dropped out of a carriage while passing the Bangor House yesterday, but the horse was stopped before any damage was done

It is encouraging to know that the shipping trade at this port is increasing. There were about a dozen vessels chartered Saturday for Southern ports.

The State Fair opens to-morrow at Portland and will continue four days, closing Friday. Arrangements have been made to transport all who desire to attend the Fair for one fare for the round trip.

The unruly soldiers of the seven Maine Batteries are to meet at Grand Army Hall, in Portland, next Thursday, to form a permanent organization. A large attendance of Artillery veterans is expected.

A small boy, six years old, named Lewis Nichols, fell into the water at the ferry slip yesterday afternoon and would have drowned, but a small boy fortunately happened along and pulled him out

The Penobscot Quartette of this city will not sing at Oldtown, as we have announced, on account of Miss Wiley's illness, but will give the concert the latter part of the week if her health will permit.

A gentleman left at this office Saturday apple blossoms taken from trees owned by Capt. A H. Smith of Orrington. He has four apple trees that will be in full bloom in a few days if the weather remains warm enough.

A special freight train will leave Waterville via Augusta at half past nine this morning, connecting with the regular train from this city, to accommodate those wishing to transport stock to the State Fair at Portland.

The Second Baptist meeting house is receiving a few general repairs. A new floor will be laid as the old one has rotted, and the sand will be hauled away from the ceiling, for it is so near the floor that it causes it to rot.

Two workmen were severely injured by embankments caving in while they were at work on the trenches Saturday The condition of one of them, William Kane, is growing rapidly worse, as he has received serious internal injuries

Fish Commissioners Stillwell and Stanley are going into camp at Phillips' pond this week, where they will fish for black bass to fill promises made to deliver them for other waters. They will furnish in all the season, for different lakes, about 1,000 of these fish.

We notice from the Boston papers that Miss Anna C. Holbrook, formerly of Brewer, has been engaged as alto singer by the Bar ahbre Opera Troupe of Boston. She has been studying music in the above city for several years, and has become quite proficient as a singer.

Mr. Abijah Dunbar of this city has furnished us with fine specimens of yellow and pop corn which he raised in his garden. The ears are very long and full, and the kernels are of unusually large size He has also brought us in two large cucumbers, one of them measuring a little over a foot.

Geo M. Sargent of this city is preparing a testimonial for the Katahdin Encampment, which is to be presented to the New England Encampment. Mr. Sargent is a young artist of considerable merit, as can be seen by his recent work in Mr. Dakin's window, and will no doubt produce a very fine piece of work for them

WINTER WHEAT. Mr. C. Bultman of Dixmont has sent us a fine specimen of winter wheat which he is raising. It looks like a very fine quality and he has raised 33½ bushels on three-quarters of an acre. It was sowed the 28th of August, 1874, and harvested the 29th of July this year. He has sowed the same piece this year, and it has already grown six inches.

The boy arrested for entering the stores on Hammond street has proved his innocence of that crime, but admits being interested with another lad in stealing Mr. James W. Hobbs' watch at the Hinckley & Egery foundry. The watch was sold at Bernhard Pott's on Main street for $4.00. The other boy is known and the affair will be settled by their parents.

A detective from a down-river town came to this city Friday afternoon in search of a young lady who had been abducted from her home by a woman supposed to be of doubtful character. He succeeded in obtaining sufficient information to aid him in tracing the young lady's whereabouts. She is supposed to be at work in Lewiston and will be taken back to her home in Searsmont.

The Bangor Art Association are intending to open their fall meeting with an exhibition of foreign photographs. The opening will occur some time near the first of next month. They are also talking of opening an art school if a convenient teacher can be procured. All their future meetings the directors will be entertained with set talks or lectures by members of this Association.

Disappearance. An old farmer was arrested yesterday afternoon for attempting to abuse the man who takes toll at the Brewer bridge. The toll man refused to allow him to pass until he should pay the toll to I, and seized his horse by the head. This h censed the old man who attempted to k ck the toll man. The affair attracted considerable attention, as nearly a hundred people gathered at a moment's notice. And all for the small sum of five cents.

J. F Gould late last night found a boy in his fore, in Cottageville, who had taken out a pane of glass and crawled in. The boy's name is Crowley, and when taken he had two watches and a revolver which he found in the store. Mr. Gould brought the lad down to the station and had him locked up. The young rogue was caught by Mr. G., who saw the pane of glass out and a coat on, he ground under the window where the boy had left it when he entered the building.

THE HOLLY SYSTEM. It will be interesting to our readers to know of the success of the Holly system in other places. We have been furnished with the Constitution and Herald of Atlanta, Georgia, which give full accounts of the test trial of the system in that place last week. The conditions of the test were that six streams should be thrown 100 feet high through inch nozzles A flag was suspended 100 feet in mid air and four streams, of the six which were to be played simultaneously, were directed to this flag. They succeeded in playing 163 feet from the ground, which was a distance of 331 feet above the reservoir. Another locality was chosen for the second test Four streams were played at this time, each at different places on the street, but one of them was the highest in the city, being 214 feet above the engine, and from this one a stream was thrown 143 feet into the air. A third test was made in another locality when two streams were thrown to a height of 132 feet. At the first trial there were 225 pounds pressure at the pumps, 235 pounds at the second test and 225 pounds at the third test. Each time 100 feet of hose were attached to the hydrants. During the time of the trial there was a very heavy gale of wind blowing. The water was thrown over houses, and apparently a very thorough and successful test was made. After the test was over, and as the hose reels were entering their houses, a fire alarm was given, and one of them started, running a quarter of a mile to the hydrant, unreeled 1000 feet of hose and put on water in about four minutes. This was remarkably quick work and illustrates the practical benefit of the system. The test was witnessed by a large crowd of people and was very satisfactory to all. It is to be hoped that the trial will be equally successful in this city.

Funeral of Admiral Collins, U S N., at Callao.

We are indebted to Lieutenant Boutelle Noyes, U. S. N., for a copy of the South Pacific Times, of Callao, Peru, which contains the following facts in regard to Admiral Collins' death. He died very suddenly on the night of the 8th of August, on board of the United States Flagship "Richmond." He first entered the naval service of his country on the 15th of January, 1834, and his commission of Rear Admiral was issued the 9th of August, 1874, one year to the day on which he died. His death cast a shadow of gloom over the communities of Lima and Callao as he was a man of noble impulses, and was noted for those many excellent qualities which tend to make a perfect character. The Times says of him:

"He was highly respected in the very distinguished position he filled, and honored by those who had the privilege of serving under him, at the same time, noted for his great social virtues, and for his courtesy that knew no stay short of amiability."

As soon as President Pardo was informed of the serious illness of Rear Admiral Collins, he sent an adjutant to the Hon. Richard Gibbs, Minister of the United States, offering at once to send the most celebrated physicians in Lima in consultation, but it was unfortunately too late. Upon hearing of his death the President very courteously sent his private Aide-de-Camp to the American Minister to express his regrets at the loss experienced by the Navy of the United States.

The funeral took place two days after his death. The body was conveyed to the shore from the Flagship, followed by a procession of 100 boats, among which were boats belonging to the Peruvian Navy, Pacific Steam Navigation Company, and a few belonging to merchant vessels. The vessels in the harbor carried the flags of their respective nationalities at half-mast. The boats were met at the shore by a large concourse of people. The procession formed on the shore was very long, being made up of armed marines, officers of the United States Navy, the several Ministers Plenipotentiary, and the following members of the Peruvian Government: Captain Garcia y Garcia, Minister of the Government; Senor Freyre, Minister of War; and Senor A. V. Sorre, Minister of the Interior. Two special trains arrived from Lima, one with about four hundred soldiers who attended the procession, the other with the Ministers of Government, foreign Ministers, and other gentlemen of distinction. The naval gentlemen prominent as representing the Peruvian Navy were Admiral Lisa, Captain Grau, Captain Moore and Captain Miro Quesada. A number of the Captains of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company were also present in the procession. There were a large number of the most prominent business men of Lima and Callao also in the procession, which was one of the largest ever witnessed in Peru Guns were fired from the "Richmond" at intervals of five minutes till the services were over.

Admiral Collins was certainly worthy of the testimonials of respect which were paid to his memory, and his nobleness of character will never be forgotten by those who knew him best.

Lincoln County.

Lincoln county complete gives Connor 2088, Roberts 2057, Republican majority 31. The Waldoboro News says that all the towns except Monhegan give Carney, Rep. 98 majority for Senator, and as Monhegan has only a dozen voters, he is elected. Chamberlain, Rep., is elected Commissioner by 40 majority, and Hall, Dem. Treasurer by 37 majority.

Up-River Items.

Our correspondent, Nopen, writes from Winn, September 18: Mr. Ruel Hickman was seriously injured while working in Mr. James H. Boyd's shingle mill. He was trying to pull a log with a pick when it slipped and he fell onto the saw, losing his right hand, and he narrowly escaped having his body sawed in two. This, with the sickness which occurred to Joseph Carter at Mathews's mill, was the second mill accident in that section.

The Shaw Brothers suspended work in their tannery at Kingman some three weeks since, but will resume next week. James S. Richardson has built a fine look up two-story house in Kingman, out of the village about a quarter of a mile on the road to Molunkus. J. E. Boyd is employing nine men in his shingle mill and is turning out about twenty-two thousand shingles a day. Milbridge Rollins of Waynesville is putting up a hotel at or near Wytopitlock Station, on the road running through the Barker tract, passing near Clifford's hill on the Military road and running by Wytopitlock Station through Drew plantation to Springfield. A hearing will be had by the County Commissioners in regard to this road, on the 27th instant, at Clifford's.

D. D. Thompson and W. A. Collins returned trade at Danforth, the 16th instant, having settled for 50 cents on a dollar. The Lightfoot base ball club of Kingman played a game of ball with the Prentiss club, in Prentiss, the 11th instant. The Lightfoots won by a score of thirty-three against fifteen for the Prentiss club.

New Magazines.

The first page of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY for October has a design by John LaForge, N. A., accompanying the ballad of Jessamine, by George Parsons Lathrop. Major Powell, the well-known Western explorer, gives in this number an account of An Overland trip to the Grand Canon of the Colorado. In the present article he tells the tragic fate of the small band who left the main party during the former expedition. Major Powell introduces a curious Indian story in the course of his narrative. Francis Gerry Fairfield prints a study of Poe, under the title of A Mad Man of Letters. L. L. L. writes Recollections of Liszt and Von Bulow, Edmund Clarence Stedman concludes what he has to say about Minor Victorian Poets, prior to the publication of this series in book form by Osgood. Some Vegetable Eccentricities are described by Byron D. Halsted (the illustrations of this paper are noticeable); Mr. Frank R Stockton condenses, with variations, the story of Peerol, Warrior and Statesman; Mrs. Walker tells about The Winthrop-Drury Affair, Dr. Holland continues his Story of Sevenoaks; Jules Verne's Mysterious Island appears in its condensed form, but occupies more space than usual. The other portions of the number are good as usual Scribner & Co., Publishers, N. Y.

ST. NICHOLAS for October closes the second volume of this charming magazine, and brings to its readers some thirty interesting articles, the majority of them beautifully illustrated. The frontispiece is a very fine wood-cut by Granville Perkins, representing a battle at sea between the American frigate Essex and an English ship, Phœbe, during the war of 1812, which contest is also described in the open ng article. The latter is devoted to a very clear and interesting review of the cruise of Captain David Porter's vessel, on board of which our late Rear-Admiral Farrag at first distinguished himself for his bravery when a boy of twelve. Ella Rodman Church contributes an article Following close upon this is a very natural, as well as amusing, story by Miss Sarah Winter Kellogg, under the title of How It Went. We also find among the stories a quaint little fable by Mrs. Diaz, another amusing episode in the fortunes of Lucretia P. Hale's comical "Peterkin" family, and the capital story of Jenny Paine's Hat, by Mrs. Bulfinch

Descriptive articles, also, are not lacking, and if the young reader prefer solid information to fiction, he will find something to his taste in the well-illustrated descriptions of the Frigate-Bird, and Lord Cornwallis's Day, too, is an interesting account of a somewhat novel celebration in a Massachusetts village of an anniversary of that general's famous surrender. Scribner & Co., publishers, N. Y.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK. The October number of the Lady's Book is fresh and charming as an October morning. The fashion plates are especially fine, and the patterns, designs and suggestions are sufficient in quantity to occupy the reader's attention until another number comes. The reading matter is spicy and altogether the issue is an exceedingly fine one. L. A. Godey & Co., Publishers, Philadelphia.

Gen. Roberts' organ, during the "hard money" campaign, which gushed by columns over Pendleton and Allen's rag-money speeches, has no word of sympathy with Tilden and the New York declaration for honest payment of the public debt in coin, but instead thereof, praises the inflation candidate of Pennsylvania, exulting over his victory for "honest old Bill Allen," and quotes approvingly an article from the Belfast Journal, which it says "forcibly exhibits the folly of any at present at forced resumption of specie payment."

The N. Y. Herald says: "If the Democrats are beaten in Ohio and shall carry New York by an increased majority, Gov. Tilden will go into the National convention next summer with his hand full of trumps. Thus far he is playing his game with consummate skill." Under the circumstances it can hardly be expected that Samuel J., and the Tammany junto will labor very cord ally for the success of the venerable Mr. Allen, of Ohio,

Thou too, sail on, O Roaring Bill!
Sail on, O Carl, distant quill!
Dumbfoundy with all its cares,
With hopes of office for all years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
We know that Captain Bill thy head,
That priest craft never kept a friend of theirs—
Then roar again, O William, great,
And hear not all the ass's that bunch,
You scan the noble Buckeye State
Will call by orders from the church!
Cleveland Leader

"We have seen a rooster whose comb had been pecked into mince meat, whose wattles ran gore, and whose feathers were torn with the hurricane of battle, a ink away from his opponent, and when fairly out of sight feebly flap his wings and crow. But such a figure was triumph itself compared with the Boston Post's Maine chicken.—Lowell Courier.

Admiral Collins was certainly worthy of the testimonials of respect which were paid to his memory, and his nobleness of character will never be forgotten by those who knew him best.

Frank Bird having issued a political manifesto on behalf of himself and a few other malcontents in Massachusetts, in which he declares that the Democracy should be supported by Liberal Republicans, the Boston Advertiser remarks:

We hope the signers of the Liberal Republican address will not overlook the fact that ex-Senator Schurz, whose name is invoked in that document, is to speak in Ohio for the Republican ticket. He is one of a numerous class of men who hoped from the Democratic party certain measures of reform which they despaired of obtaining from Republicans. Experience convinces him at least that of the two parties, so far certainly as Ohio is concerned, the Democratic is much the worse, its policy and its tendencies being bad from beginning to end. At least so we assume from the announcement that he is to take the field for Governor Hayes and against the rag-money and principled party supporting Governor Allen. Senator Schurz has a great influence with the Germans and ought to be able to unite with them if they are not already united, in the support of the Republican ticket.

"Perhaps the Boston Post intended to compliment Mr. Eben F. Pillsbury when it compared him, in his attacks upon Mr. Blaine, to a gud-fly hangin upon a horse's flank. We always supposed that the difference in the mental calibre of the two men was great indeed, but the estimate of the Post puts that a good Democratic authority) certainly places the difference in a more marked light than heretofore. The editor of the Register will hereafter be known as "Mr. Gad-fly Pillsbury."—Dover Gazette.

THE ANSWER.

BY MARY L. BITTER.

"I am I," "Why should your song be always sad,
A philosopher in fact?
I ask myself by the heavens, wise and glad,
That God as I raised show

Why show to us that immortal fount the force,
To forge a new color's hair?
What ranger soul I shall finally divorce
The platform the past

The scent aroma of the sun kissed pine
I see in the newness an,
I see can I since of a day divine
Seemed an unspoken prayer

And gazing up she poet at shade or light,
But dear eyes looking down,
The splendid row of the hair where threads of white
Gleamed majestically through the brown

sigh re stopped, and from the grass an I weeds
The crowsfoot at their feet
Gathered a flower so simple as her needs
Asked by Marguerite

And while the stainless petals fell, again
Rose simple but fi-tening pain
The sitting lie I shared—old refrain.
He lo the same.

YEAST AND BREAD MAKING

I want to tell my sisters of the House keeping acquaintances to yeast making. It may help our friends who wish to know, which is the top of my stic yeast I was to me from

The recipe for stock yeast that I have used for a year and without fail, is this: one good potatoes, pared and boiled in sufficient water to cook them, boil one-half teaspoonful of hops in one pint of water different twenty minutes, when the potatoes are cooked through mash them well in their own liquid, add sugar and salt, which you have boiled or mixed in the hop water; then add one-half cup of sugar and a table-spoonful of salt; pour the boiling liquid over the potatoes and ginger. When cool I put in one cupful of good lively yeast (I use Fleischmann's), and then let it stand in a cool place until it is light and ready for use. I put in one cupful of yeast to keep it for the whole crop season for them. They are a large flaxish colored red pears with lop-roofed backs and a sweetish color when poached, of an agreeable flavor. Near the plant is a single flat on the ... is nothing new or ... ing—the pinch ... ing to the traps once or ... east from one to seven ... each cake, and many ... ew deadly, were married coup... Did I pick the leaves off? No, the plants were too small to bear it. Did I crape them off with my thumb nail? No, that would have taken too long and would have injured the leaves. I took the aforesaid bottle and brush and covered the eggs with the shellac with one flash of the brush, and they never developed, nor could the application be discovered on the upper side of the leaf, and this is what I claim as original, the change from what would have been transient visitors to permanent fixtures. The two forces cleared the squashes of every bug in eight days, and punished in a fine crop.—Exchange.

USEFUL RECEIPTS

To compute the number of tons of hay in a house will contain, calculate the number of cubic feet in the house and divide by 35; this gives the number of tons if closely packed.

About 270 cubic feet of new meadow hay, not from 216 to 243 cubic feet of hay from old stocks, or from 297 to 324 cubic feet of dry clover, weigh one ton.

To determine the weight of live cattle, measure in inches the girth around the breast just behind the shoulder blade, and the length of the back from the tail to the fore part of the shoulder blade. Multiply the girth by the length and divide by 144. If the girth is less than three feet, multiply the quotient by If between 3 and 5 feet multiply by 16, if between 5 and 7 feet by 25, or if between 7 and 9 feet, by 31. If the animal is lean, deduct one twentieth of the result and the answer is the weight in pounds thus multiplied by 0.063 gives the pet weight.

A mixture of tallow 3 parts, tar 1 part, applied to the bark while hot, will protect fruit trees against mice.

A white wash made of quicklime and wood ashes will destroy moss on trees.

Sticks of lime placed loosely on a board inside a drawer during the summer, will take up the moisture and prevent rusting.
